The case, according to insur-ance officials, is similar in many respects to that of Alex Kells Lodi butcher, who was recently hanged for murdering an itiner ant laborer and burning the body after placing personal effects on the laborer so that it would be identified as his own, in an insurance plot.

Youth Pays Penalty Of Crime on Gallows

MONTREAL, Que., July 11. Walter Muir, 21 years old, New York youth, was hanged at 8:35 o'clock this morning at the little jail at Valley Field, for the murder of Henry Laviellette, whom he shot during a quarrel last September.

Muir went to the gallows courgeously a few hours after he had mother, Mrs. May Muir, a widowed dressmaker, who came to Valley Field from New York to see him just before he died.

City Leads Every Other Community In Comparison With Same Period Of 1923, Figures Establish

Glendale registered the greatest gain of any city in California in building permits issued this June as against last June, according to the current survey of S. W. Straus & Company, a national bond investment concern, thus chalking up another record that "tells the world" this city is growing as fast as ever.

The total of building permits issued in Glendale for June, 1923, was $900,051, according to official figures in the office of H. C. Vandewater, building superintendent. The total for June, 1924, was $1,-000,785, the figures show-a gain of 11 per cent.

SCOLDING DOES NOT HELP-A boy who has no self-confidence. A girl who has gone wrong through neglect. An officer who is doing his level best. To change the styles of women's clothes. A situation that needs cleaning up. Your family to accept your judgments. To develop a friendly feeling about the shop.

OBLIGATIONS OF PUBLIC OFFICIALS

One of the best tests of the character of a man is the way he fulfills his obligations to the public when he holds office. When a man assumes such a position he takes an oath and becomes the servant of the people. If he is honest and courageous he lets nothing personal creep into the conduct of his office. When his duty to the people—those he has taken oath to serve—is in the balance, friendships and personal gain must be ignored. We have heard of sheriffs arresting members of their own families, judges sentencing to imprisonment or death, persons who had been dear friends to them. This would be a hard thing to do, but if a man is honest and regards his oath as sacred, it is the only course he can pursue.

It is deplorable that in many places, and Glendale is not immune from this evil, a man can so entrench himself behind power or wealth or personal influence, or all three, as to be above the law; that the sworn servants of the public will wink at conditions that are detrimental to a large number of people rather than compel one citizen to conform to the laws of the city and the laws of decency. It is a pity that public officials should regard as a personal matter a thing that is of public concern; that they should consider themselves justified in turning a deaf ear to the pleas of the people, meeting their petitions for a square deal with silence, if not ridicule, rather than dethrone one who has it in his power to mete out favors of one kind or another.

There is no reason for any man-no matter how wide his acquaintance or influence, or how great his wealth or powerto expect or demand privileges that would not be granted to the humblest citizen; there is no reason for those who hold office, and take the people's money in payment, to favor one citizen more than another; there is no reason why one man should be allowed to break the law and other men be held to account for the same thing.

The official who laughs and says he cannot do anything when the people ask for simple justice, is not taking a manly course. His character stands revealed. The one who is fearless in the discharge of his duty, no matter whom he may offend or what personal loss he may suffer, will never lose anything by being true to himself and true to the people he is pledged to serve. Even those he offends will be compelled to admire and Public officials assume authority that they were never meant to have when they wink at law-breaking for personal reasons.

"WHAT'S IN A NAME?"

So many of our cities, streets, rivers, mountains and canyons here in the southwest bear names that carry us back to the days of Spanish and Mexican occupation. These names are musical, historical and unusual. They are peculiarly our own, for they would be very inapt in any other part of the country. So we should keep them and cherish them.

Many of those who are opening streets and tracts now are not so careful to select names that are both euphonious and apt. It seems that more subdivisions are being opened and more new streets established than there are appropriate names, hence some of this nomenclature is all but ridiculous.

The answer to the oft-asked question, "What's in a name?" might be, "A great deal." People will not buy in an undesirable location just because it has a high-sounding name. On the other hand a name that is ill-fitted to the location and ridiculous might repel buyers from desirable property.

In one section not a thousand miles from Glendale where a subdivision was recently opened very small lots were sold and homes built that are mere shacks set amid the most squalid surroundings. This subdivision has a high-sounding name that would lead one to believe it was made up of magnificent estates. Another subdivider gave his high, sightly and highpriced property a silly name. He soon saw his mistake and remedied it, although the experience cost him a great deal of sues is probable, if the influence

There's a good deal in a name, after all.

The Great Creators By DR. FRANK CRANE

The great creators are the great minds. Labor does not create.

Capital does not create. It is mind that creates.

Even the creator of the world, that First Cause which reason forces us to suppose was not a banker nor a laborer, was a Thinker. For God, we are informed, "is a Spirit," and a spirit is pure mind, not pure hands, not pure possessions.

The real wealth of a country, therefore, lies not in its laboring class, but in its thinking class. We could name half a dozen Thinkers who have added more to the wealth of the world than any hundred millionaires or any hundred thousand toilers

Take Edison, who devised many things, and Bell, of the telephone, and Elias Howe, who invented the sewing machine, and Whitney, who conceived the cotton gin, and Fulton, who thought of the steamboat, and Ford, who developed a he knows it or not, more indebted to this man's Croesuses, Rothschilds, Rockefellers, Carnegies and Monte Cristos put together.

"Once a Scotch boy gathered some pieces of silver together-not many-the result of some years of saving from his labors as a plowboy on his father's farm. He walked to Edinburgh, where he invested his silver in linen and laces, beads, ribbons and gaudy things, attractive to feminine fancy. He made a pack of them all, which he belted on his back, and he started out as a peddler. He trudged to London. He arrived in dirt and in rags, and—with a big idea

"This big idea has since proved itself the backbone of the economic world. It is the center, the nucleus of world rebuilding now. William Patterson was the lad's name, and from his idea grew the Bank of England, which laid the foundation of the commercial prosperity of England and made a safe, sure and secure financial center for the commercial enterprise of the entire world."

And every man, in every business, everywhere, great automobile industry; these men have added one idea for his own comfort and happiness than more to the wealth of the world than all the to all of his own best exertions. The great minds are the creators of the wealth of the world. The rest of us, reapers and users.

The Ravings Of a Grouch

I find it rather difficult to hold my temper when I am with cer-tain people. You know who I tain people. You know who I mean. The man who finds in everything foreign something to worship, something better than we have in our own country. The war should have cured him of this but it did not. He does not talk quite so much about German culture as he did but he always finds in his own country some-thing to condemn and in foreign countries something to admire. am not saying there is nothing to admire in foreign countries, foreign peoples, foreign civilization and culture, but what I object to is his always comparing the United States unfavorably with other countries. I am not one to shut my eyes blindly to my own shortcomings and I can see the faults of my country as well as any one. I can see many admirable things, too, in other countries. But I am oldfashioned. I was taught by my parents and my teachers that love of my country was a virtue to be cultivated and lack of patriotism was a shameful thing. But I find that such a conception of patriotism is out of date. must have world loyalty, international patriotism and just as we give the guests in our homes the best of everything we must cord all the advantages to other countries and think of our own land last of all.

This is a pretty theory and would work out all right if this were paradise and the world was ready to reciprocate, but as far as I can learn foreign nations are quite ready to agree with us when we condemn our own country, they have not much good to say of us. And, of course, if we are not proud of our country we cannot expect them to admire us.

European civilization is old, yes, as compared to ours, but I do not think we are so far behind the old world, at that. We have no great cathedrals centuries old, no wonderful art galleries, and some would say, no literature. As I see it, the world would wag along just the same without some of that old-world literature. And why must we depend upon Europe for standards in art and literature and music? Why are we not capable of having our own ideals in these things? And who has the authority to tell us our standards are below those of Eu-

Our government is not without flaws, but it is infinitely superior to those older governments of Eucope. And we have not done so badly in science and invention.

I can never be convinced that I should not love my country best of all; that our national life and nonor do not depend upon our pride in our country and her intitutions, and our willingness to defend them. I can not agree with him who thinks we should allow foreign peoples to dictate to

I feel that we have a duty to the generations to come. Our forefathers by untold sacrifice, made this country a pretty good place for the people of my genera-tion. I think he is a pretty poor citizen who would not do as much for posterity.

Isham Jones' Brunswick Records for you

THOSE who have heard Isham Jones and his orchestra on Brunswick records call him King of Jazz. Never before was there such music! Such rhythm; such rare thrills of harmony! Never such gayety of spirit!

Now for the first time he may be heard, with his orchestra, in this city.

We have all of Brunswick's famous Isham Jones Records. He records exclusively for Brunswick because he says Brunswick reproduces his music most perfectly.

The following is but a partial list of Isham Jones' recent Brunswick Records. Let us play them for you.

President Coolidge will stay at the White House most of the time and Senator La Follette is too old to wage an active campaign. Mr. Davis will have an opportunity to travel extensively and speak by radio everywhere. He likes campaigning, is a forceful speaker and has a magnetic personality. He is not the kind who is given to demagoguery and the country can expect an intelligent campaign from him.

Newspaper comment even from the Republican press hereabouts gives Davis credit for a courageous record in public service and for genuine ability. But it isn't likely to be a campaign of personalities. The Democrats themselves concede that President Coolidge is highly respected and that Senator La Follette is credited by the west as being a sincere advocate of radicalism. A letter that was circulated among the delegates, signed only "A Coolidge Republican," attacked Congressman Walter F. Lineberger, accusing him of per-mitting Samuel Gompers, head of the American Federation of Labor, to dictate to him as to the policies he should adopt, of opposing President Coolidge and of joining La Follette's wrecking crew. Mr. Henry demanded that the writer of the letter stand up make his charges against Lineberger in the open, scoring the writer in unmeasured terms.

Chairman A. L. Rowland also declared that the person who circulated the letter was unworthy of consideration, when Lee Coombs raised a point of order that as the conference was then only acting as a temporary or-ganization, it could not take action on the letter. The matter will be taken up again this afternoon, however, when it is expected that some definite action will be adopted.

The delegates met at luncheon in the Hotel Green, with Speaker of of committees were presented.

PLANS PREPARED FOR SCHOOL ROOM

Brick Addition Is Provided In 1924 Budget of L. A. Education Board

EAGLE ROCK, July 11.—A brick addition to the Eagle Rock school is provided in the $7,000,000 budget of the Los Angeles. Board of Education. This was taken up as an emergency measure; the first step in the program, and is being carried out even before the bonds are sold, which will not be disposed of in all probability until August or September. Plans have been drawn for the addition, and as soon as contracts are let, construction will be in progress. While the actual date of the first work is indefinite, it is probable that the building will be started some time within the next three weeks.

This spacious addition will obviate the necessity of the small bungalows that are now used to care for the overflow of pupils from classes in the regular school buildings. These small frame buildings are reported to be extremely hot during the summer days while school is still in session.

To Present Play

"Idylls of Spring," written by Mrs. Arthur Harrison, of Montiflora avenue, and presented with noticeable success, both from an artistic and financial standpoint for the local P. T.-A. is winning considerable success in Los Angeles and other Southern California cities. Tonight and tomorrow, the production will be featured at the Municipal auditorium at Long Beach, for the P.
T.-A. Federation there. Mrs. Harrison and Mrs. C. D. Wentworth, in charge of the costuming, are busy at the beach city, rehearsing and arranging for the play.

Leaving in separate machines from Eagle Rock, two groups of local residents plan to meet at the Grand Canyon some time in July, according to present plans.

Mrs. W. C. Kell and daughter, Kaleta Bel, and Mrs. Kell's mother, Mrs. A. B. Wilkey, who for the past three years have been residents of Eagle Rock, are planning to make their home in Colorado Springs. They left for Colorado Sunday, Mr. Shaefer, a member of the faculty of the Eagle Rock school, driving the machine. Mr. Shaefer's parents and members of his famiy will leave shortly for the Grand Canyon where they will meet with Mrs. Kell's family.

VALLEY BOOSTERS ATTEND MEETING

Speakers Outline Need of Improvements, Burbank Family Reunited

BURBANK, July 11.—The first meeting of the Valley Booster association has come and gone, and everyone who was present feels a little more enthusiastic about local and general conditions. The meeting was held at the Santa Rosa and was in the nature of a banquet.

Among the prominent speakers who addressed the assemblage were: Henry W. Wright, county supervisor for this district; Hugh Pomeroy, secretary of the regional planning commission; Robert Hanley, of the Los Angeles city attorney's office and one of the most enthusiastic of the San Fernando valley boosters for the building of new boulevards across the valley; Mayor J. C. Crawford, of Burbank; Charles B. Wood, of the Burbank Chamber of Commerce; and Earl White, of the Magnolia Park section and member of the Burbank planning com-

Wm. W. Weatherly, his family and some Los Angeles friends enjoyed a three day vacation at the Little Bear lake in the San Bernardino mountains, returning Tuesday. They report a very enjoyable time and a big crowd. Mr. Weatherby estimates that there were at least 5000 automobiles at the resort.

Mrs. C. C. Blood and little son Lisle, arrived in Los Angeles Sunday night from Silver City, New Mexico. Mr. Blood met them in Los Angeles and escorted them to Burbank. They are now located at 703 Verdugo avenue. This is the first time the family has been united for more than a year.

Sault Canal Traffic Less Than Last Year

DETROIT, July 11.—Total June traffic through the canal at Sault Ste Marie amounted to 11,077,069 tons as against 13,749,923 tons last year. The wheat movement amounted to 22,357,582 bushels as compared with 25,505,699 bushels in June, 1923, while other grains totalled 14,149,632 bushels against 11,281,255. Shipments of iron ore were 7,889,906 tons as compared with 9,222,722 last June and the figures on copper this June and last were 7,996 tons and 10,092 tons respectively. The movement of bituminous coal totaled 1,493,759 tons which compared with 2,727,757 tons a year ago. There were 205,342 tons of anthracite moved, a drop of over 90,000 tons from last week's total.
